network services

.COM, .NET, .ORG, .GOV ... Don't get bogged down playing connect the dots! Let Gross Mendelsohn's Technology Solutions Group provide the advice you need to keep up with the latest technologies and to answer questions such as:

- Should we upgrade our network server to Windows 2008?
- Should we get FIOS, DSL, T1, cable or satellite for Internet access?
- How can we work securely between sites or from home?
- How can we increase the speed of our network?
- Is our backup system really working?
- Do we have an effective disaster recovery plan?

We specialize in helping you find the right answers for all your computer network and telecommunications questions. Our highly trained network engineers have the experience and knowledge needed to evaluate your current and future network needs and offer alternative solutions. The services we provide include:

- Evaluation of your current network infrastructure
- Design, installation and support of networks, mail servers and databases, including Windows 2008, 2003, 2000 and NT, Citrix, Terminal Services, Microsoft Exchange, Microsoft SQL Server and Pervasive SQL
- Network antivirus and backup solutions
- Installation of hubs, switches and routers
- Secure networking between multiple sites and remote users
